

"Cosy", design Andreas Saxer, parce que les luminaires sont souvent positionnés le long des murs, "Cosy" fait l'économie d'un pied et s'appuie contre le mur pour irradier une lumière d'ambiance.

"Walk away with me", design Andreas Saxer, un simple tabouret en pin dont la jambe décalée et les pieds rouges façon allumette donne un nouvel élan et un profil racé.

64 > 69

énergie

Emergent Talent

In January, at the Cologne Furniture Fair (IMM), the Rheinpark Halle was exclusively dedicated to young designers whose projects were gathered under the heading [d3]. The "NRG" show presented the work of young designers and studios from all over the world. "Future Point" showcased the work of students, while "Inspired by Cologne" presented the winners of the third annual competition organized by the Cologne Fair Management in conjunction with the German Design Council. The fair gave all participants an opportunity to present a few original ideas to a crowd of industry professionals and to face off with the audience invited to the Rheinpark Halle. The Ikea-PS collection presented products designed for the general audience. The designs of the new generation in the areas of furniture and lighting provided practical, functional, and affordable solutions in the same spirit. Offering solutions that simply aim to make every day life easier, these young designers find the answers to their needs and come up with unusual and humorous object, using basic materials.